Imagine someone gives you £10,000 to improve this issue locally. You can't donate to a charity, you have to do something. What would you do?

Our social issue is...

---

Who would we help?

---

What would we do?

---

Who else would be involved?

---

Where and when would it happen?

---

What would we need?

---

What would be the impact?

Changemaker Challenge!

Here are some conversation starters you can use with your family or friends. Talking about social issues is important because it helps us understand what is happening in our community. We might:

- ◆ Learn about a new perspective, and develop our empathy skills
- ◆ Understand more about positive change and how to create it

...Can you think of examples you've seen lately in the news or in the local area? What makes you notice them?

...If you could change one thing to make our community a better place to be, what would it be?

...What social issues are easier to see? Which ones are harder to spot? Why is that?

...Do social issues affect everyone in the same way? Why or why not?

We've been learning about social issues today...

...Whose voices do you think are listened to most in society? Whose voices might be ignored?

...How do you feel when you hear about someone being treated unfairly?

...What would you want others to do if it happened to you?

...What's one positive change we could make together as a group this week?
